No recording of this meeting– in the zoom meeting breakout room without recording permissions

- iPod's in the modern day is not explicitly on the wikipedia but would be a great angle to give this page a modern connection beyond just looking at past iPods.
- The audience is just iPod enthusiasts, but also just people who are curious.
- Make sure to capture the feeling of an early 2000s website without making it feel outdated.
- I would also be ok with the design mimicking the iPod's silhouette advertisement campaign.
- The mockups for this page should clearly have one of those two design philosophies but I am also ok with seeing a completely new direction
- Text or slack me if you have any questions.