- As discussed with the professors during class, I am a big fan of the acknowledgement of early 2000s design treatments.
- I think the text for the introduction should be larger, but I also really like how the ipod menu system works on that page.
- Colors should be updated to be more whimsical
    - Either bg color should be white to match apple aesthetic or more playful
    - Title looks great, love treatment of wiki link
- Mobile is translated nicely, I think the menu at the bottom should expand to show all options at once but I understand that the default position should be collapsed on mobile
- Use Apple Garamond and a sans serif as a font pairing
- In order to make the iPod UI more visibly interactive, use a glowing animation on the D-pad so people know they can use it
